PHILADELPHIA DRAFT DODGER SENDS TAUNT

Poorly Disguised Evasion Received From His Safe Retreat in Germany

TWO AMERICANS FREED

Marked Copy of Newspaper Giving Account Delivered to Representative Kahn

WASHINGTON, May 9.—While a congressional committee sat in Washington today investigating the manner in which he escaped, Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, wealthy Philadelphia draft dodger, sent a poorly disguised taunt to the committee from his safe retreat at a German health resort.

Just as the committee was getting down to business a marked copy of the Eberbacher Zeitung was delivered to Representative Kahn of California, chairman of the House military affairs committee. It was addressed to Kahn in the handwriting of Bergdoll and contained an account of the release from prison of Frank Neaf and Carl Zimmer, the two Americans who attempted to abduct the slacker in the German health resort some months ago.

BURGLAR KILLED BY AMATEUR WRESTLER

BURLINGAME, Cal., May 9.—"I'll do anything in my power for his wife. I wouldn't have killed him for anything in this world. My only thought was to subdue him." With this declaration Louis R. Ardouin, amateur heavyweight wrestler of the Pacific coast and member of the Olympic Club of San Francisco, today started a search for the widow of William E. Anderson, Canadian war veteran and member of the American Legion, who was strangled to death early Sunday morning by Ardouin when found prowling about the Ardouin home. Mrs. Ardouin heard the burglar and awakened her husband. Ardouin sprang out of bed and encountered Anderson. A terrific struggle ensued. Finally Ardouin secured a full Nelson grip on the burglar and forced him to his knees. The burglar had ceased struggling when the officers arrived and was believed shamming. Examination showed, however, that a tight shirt neckband had caused him to strangle to death.

In the presence of 10,000 persons who crowded the Mechanics' Building, in Boston, Miss Gwendoline A. Handley became the bride of Willard R. Tibbets recently. The wedding was a feature of the Home Beautiful Exposition and the bride was the winner of a $500 prize for the best essay on marriage. The ceremony was performed on the stage of the exposition. The photo shows the bride and groom and Elsie Jane Moorhouse, one of their little attendants.

GLENDALE ELKS' BALL TEAM WINS

The baseball game yesterday afternoon on the new grounds at San Fernando road and Park avenue, between the Glendale Elks' team and the William Russell all-star aggregation from Universal City was a spirited one, and proved one of the best contests of the season.

The score was 5 to 4 in favor of the Elks' team and the high-class flychasers gathered together by the famous Universal star made them earn their victory.

TEST NEW SMELTING PROCESS FOR ORE

(By International News Service)

LEADVILLE, Colo., May 9.—That the smelting industry of Colorado and other western mining states may soon be revolutionized is indicated here by the announcement that the so-called "Terry" flotation process has proved a success.

The Terry process is a method of liquid flotation that extracts in commercial quantity by-products from all ores that formerly went in the "junk pile" as worthless.

Starting tests with equipment that would treat 50 tons of ore daily, a mining company at Kokomo, Colo., is now using machinery that will permit the treatment of twice that amount daily, and the financial return for the smelted metal is declared to show an excellent margin of profit.

A feature of the new process is that all the work is performed at the point of production.

The old method of "fire-smelting" metals will probably be discontinued within a short period, and it is expected that the new process will make available for profitable marketing millions of tons of ore heretofore untouched.

PAINTERS ASSIST IN PREPARING MONTE VISTA HOME

Merchants of Glendale Donate Material—Ladies Serve Lunch for Workers

COMMITTEE GRATEFUL

Kitchen and Equipment Is the Contribution of Residents of This City

Nine painters from Glendale Local No. 713, gave their entire Sunday yesterday to a job of painting at the Monte Vista Home for Undernourished Children. The result is a delight to the ladies interested in this great enterprise, for the light gray paint makes things look spick and span. The men will finish with the second coat next Sunday.

Gentlemen who gave so generously of their time and labor yesterday, were: A. D. Hurd, H. Freed, F. Sullivan, E. L. Major, H. E. Peterson, Burt Stowell, J. M. York, F. D. Hail and Glen Hurd. Carl Hare, who was unable to come, sent Mrs. R. W. Meeker, chairman of the committee on equipment of the kitchen, his check for $8.

O. G. Thompson, who has gone out for a number of Sundays to work, was also on the job yesterday, putting on hinges.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Belew, Mrs. R. W. Meeker and Mrs. Ella Richardson, prepared and served luncheon for the workers.

Material for the painting was donated by the following firms: Glendale Hardware Company, 100 pounds Pioneer white lead and one gallon boiled oil; Cornwell and Kelty, five gallons of turpentine; Glendale Paint and Paper Company, 100 pounds of white lead, 2 pounds raw senna, one pound lamp black.

As this painting would have cost several hundred dollars, Mrs. Meeker and her committee are highly elated and deeply grateful to these generous workers and business concerns that have made this improvement possible.

The kitchen, which is Glendale's contribution, is now most sanitary, and its equipment will be thoroughly up-to-date. A patent dishwasher and a fireless cooker are among the late donations.

WILL BE COSTLY TO REPAIR AIRPLANE

(By International News Service)

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 9.—Work of repairing the $75,000 air liner owned by Alfred W. Lawson, which crashed to earth here Sunday on her maiden voyage, was begun today. Repairs to this aircraft, it is estimated, will cost $10,000. Lawson expects to have the machine ready for a second trial flight in two weeks.

Although four persons were in the liner when it fell, none was injured. The fall of the machine is attributed to the fact that the field was too small to permit a proper "take off."

The liner is the largest aircraft of its kind in the United States and was built for transcontinental passenger and freight service. It has a capacity of 26 passengers and can carry 6000 pounds of mail and freight.

M'NAMARA FREED FROM PRISON TODAY

SAN QUENTIN, Cal., May 9.—John J. McNamara, former secretary of the iron workers' union, convicted of dynamiting the Llewellyn Iron Works of Los Angeles, gray and worn by his nine years and five months' imprisonment, was released from prison here today. His release meant his parting from his brother, James B. McNamara, serving a life sentence for the Los Angeles Times explosion. After a visit to San Francisco, McNamara said he would visit relatives in Chicago and the East and then return to his trade as an iron worker. He said his first desire when free was to go to a motion picture show.

THE PULL OF A DAILY PRESS AD

Some people declare, and with good reason to back their assertions, that when it comes to pulling power, the strongest plaster on the market has nothing to exceed the drag of a classified ad in the daily edition of the Glendale Press. In proof of this claim E. E. Holt of 130 South Central avenue is exhibiting a $20 bill. Then he placed a "Lost" ad in the columns of the Daily Glendale Press and presto, as though he had rubbed the lamp of the genii, he was brought into touch with the finder of the money, E. K. Daniels, an honest man, as are all the men who subscribe to the Glendale Press, and on giving satisfactory proof that he was the loser of the money, the bill was returned to Mr. Holt. He says, "if any one asks you whether a want ad or any other kind of a classified ad pays in the Glendale Press, send him to me."

INNOCENT BABY IN JAIL WITH PARENTS

John R. Bryant, veteran of the World War, is being detained at the Somerville, N. J., jail on the charge of having slain his father, George Bryant, aged 69. Bryant, his young wife and baby are occupying a detention room at the jail. Mrs. Bryant is being detained as a witness. Bryant was arrested near Rocky Hill, N. J., on the request of the authorities of Orange County, Florida. Bryant stoutly maintains his innocence. Several days before his arrest Bryant, his wife and baby, penniless and almost starving, were found by a Salvation Army lassie in the Pennsylvania station, New York. They were cared for at the Salvation Army home and late placed on a farm near New Brunswick, N. J. New York authorities, who had been asked to watch for the little family, learning of their whereabouts, notified the New Jersey authorities.

SHOOT AND KILL PRISON GUARD

(By International News Service)

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., May 9.—Mutineer prisoners in the Indiana state reformatory early today shot down and killed Jim Grim, prison guard, overpowered and bound and gagged George Phelps, captain of the guard, and, with revolvers seized from the guards, made a futile attempt to break prison. Six inmates plotted the escape, and it was only after a battle of an hour and a half, in which two of their number were shot, that they were subdued. Their escape was frustrated by a trusty who, although covered by guns, fled and sounded the alarm. The sextet apparently hatched the plot carefully, after refusal recently of the state pardons board to grant clemency to them. The prisoners first overpowered Grimm as he passed the bakery where they worked and later killed him with his own weapon. Only one guard stood between them and freedom when the trusty gave the warning.

FORMER PRESIDENT ON REPARATIONS

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Judging from the men whom the former President has been conferring with, it is believed that Mr. Wilson is preparing what may be termed a "constructive criticism" of the reparations situation. How this will be offered to the world, Mr. Wilson has no disclosed.

The former President is slowly improving in health. The improvement is not recorded so much in his appearance as in his voice. People who have talked with him recently say his voice has returned to its old-time vigor and resonance and that he would be perfectly capable of delivering a public address at this time. There is an almost daily appeal for Mr. Wilson to make speeches and lectures, but to all he has turned a deaf ear.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The marine strike may be settled upon a basis of granting the workers a bonus for efficiency, to offset the 15 per cent reduction in wages, Secretary of Commerce Hoover stated today.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9.—There were no signs here today of any break in the ranks of either the ship owners or the marine workers and the main development in the strike situation affecting this port was the tieing up of the big passenger steamer Yale, which only a few days ago resumed her coastal service between here and Los Angeles.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 9.—Enroute to Yakima, Wash., where he will conduct an investigation into the effect of present advanced freight rates on fruit and vegetable industries of the northwest, Henry J. Ford, special representative of the interstate commerce commission, is in Portland today.

Facts and figures will be presented at the Yakima hearing, which will open Tuesday, in an effort to show that unless relief is immediately granted the fruit and vegetable growers in the northwestern states will be driven out of those industries.

BERLIN, May 9.—With but two more days—Tuesday and Wednesday—intervening in which Germany must accept or reject unequivocally the allied indemnity ultimatum, the country was still without a cabinet today.

LONDON, May 9.—The prime ministers of all the German states have been summoned to Berlin by President Ebert to participate in final deliberations as to whether the allied indemnity ultimatum should be accepted or rejected, said a Central News dispatch from Berlin this afternoon. It added the ultimatum would be received in the Reichstag Monday.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Action on the Knox resolution, declaring the state of war with Germany at an end, will be delayed by the house until conditions in Europe are more settled, Representative Mondell stated today after a conference with President Harding. Mondell made it clear that he was stating his own opinion and not instructions given him by the president.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—For the first time in a year and a half Senator Truman H. Newberry, Republican, of Michigan, made his appearance in the senate chamber today.

A decision of the United States supreme court one week ago today, freed Senator Newberry of a jail sentence imposed in the Michigan courts after he and several others had been convicted of violation of the corrupt practices law in connection with his election.

BERLIN, May 9.—French troops have occupied Muelheim, four and a half miles west of Essen, acoording to information received here this afternoon. Muelheim is on the edge of the Ruhr district.

DUSSELDORF, May 9.— German and Russian communists are becoming active in the northern part of the Ruhr district. They distributed circulars today urging the workers to flood the coal mines if the French troops march into the district upon the expiration of the allied ultimatum Thursday morning. On the whole, however, the Ruhr is quiet and the bulk of the people have adopted a "don't care" attitude.

'MOTHERS' HONORED BY MASONS AT COVINA

Large Number of Automobiles Filled to Overflowing Make the Trip

INTERESTING PROGRAM

Each Orphan Was Presented With a Red or White Carnation

Between 50 and 60 automobiles lined up at Masonic Temple Sunday morning ready to make the trip to Covina to celebrate Mothers' Day and also Glendale Day at the Masonic Orphan home as is their annual custom. As nearly as the roster could be secured the machines carried about 270 persons and these were joined along the way by other automobiles from Monrovia and Pasadena. Leading the procession was a machine conspicuously decorated with a banner announcing that Glendale Masonic bodies were bound for Covina to observe Mothers' Day. It would be impossible to enumerate those who went. There was the C. O. Pulliam party which included Miss Pulliam, Emil Kiefer, Miss Gardner and John Allen Legge. At their table two orphans were entertained, also the matron and manager of the home. Seated with them were Mrs. Stephen Packer, Miss Doris Packer, Mr. and Mrs. Don Packer. Others in the list were Mattison B. Jones and party, Dwight Stephenson and party, J. G. Huntley and party, C. L. Peckham and party, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Priaux, R. V. Hogue and party, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Goodwin and many others.

There were plenty of good things to eat including ice cream and candy, and what remained was left to be used for the school lunches of the children today.

The program included recitations by Miss Packer, Miss Gardner, Mrs. Holland of Los Angeles, and the children of the school, songs by Mr. Henry and by Mr. Pla of Glendale, a dance by Lois Naudain, choruses by the children, and a fine drill put on by the boys of the school. For each orphan there was a white carnation and those who have mothers living also wore a red one.

Following the program dignitaries of the various orders were presented to the company beginning with Mattison B. Jones, grand high priest of the state of California. Then came Percy Priaulx, eminent commander of Glendale Knights Templar. Because of illness, Ernest Morgan high priest of the Glendale Chapter, R. A. M., was unable to be present and so the next in office, Ira Vance, was introduced. Henry P. Goodwin, master of Blue Lodge was called upon and made a neat speech and he introduced Mrs. Orma Naudain, worthy matron of Glen Eyrie Chapter.

The affair was voted a great success by all who participated and when it left the home was reluctantly released with declarations on every hand that it was "the end of a perfect day."

MAY FESTIVAL WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

Ladies of the Church of the Holy Family are wondering what the receipts of their May festival at La Ramada on Saturday night would have been had the weather been such as Glendale is wont to enjoy in the joyous month of May, instead of the chilly, cloudy freak variety handed out by the weatherman on that day.

Not that they are ungratefully repining—far from it. They are rejoicing that the committee at each booth did its shivering best all through the afternoon and evening; and their shivering best was remarkably good, for the receipts totalled the gratifying sum of $700.

TWO BIG MEETINGS FOR WOMEN AT TABERNACLE

Evangelist Brown Admonishes Women to Guard Their Thoughts and Think of Things That Are True, Honest, Just Pure and Lovely

LARGE AUDIENCE ADDRESSED BY MRS. NETH

Announces That Another Rally for Girls Will Be Held Next Saturday—Describes Opportunities Offered Boys and Girls at the John Brown College

The hold which Evangelist Brown has secured on the interest and hearts of the women of Glendale was demonstrated by the attendance on the service for women and girls conducted Saturday afternoon in the tabernacle which was three-fourths filled with earnest listeners who followed him with the closest attention. "Thinking White," was his theme, his text being from Philippians 4:8: "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any virtue and if there be any praise, think on these things."

The preacher reminded his hearers that this exhortation was delivered by Paul in the shadow of death. It was as though he sought to epitomize in it all the things he had taught them, for Paul believed thoroughly in that aphorism of the old testament: "As a man thinketh in his heart so is he." So he exhorted them to think right, to be honest, to be just, to be pure, in their thinking, persistently and continuously, to think on the things of good report, knowing that if their thoughts were safeguarded they could not go wrong. Said the preacher:

"Men and women everywhere become what they think. Their character is the sum total of their thinking. Thought is the material out of which we build for the endless ages. Tell me on what level you pitch your thinking and I will tell you on what level you live. We need to teach our boys and girls that the thought is the father of the act and as long as our children are saved from thinking wrong, they are saved from wrong living."

He then showed how thoughts result from what we see, hear, read or touch. All sin which ends in death originates back somewhere in a thought which was the result of something we saw or heard or read, he declared. "Repeated thinking on any one subject makes a rut in the brain, and we need to teach our children that a rut of wrong thinking leads to sin. This world itself was first a thought in the mind of God. Back of everything there is that creative something called wrong. Whoever is down on a vicious level is down because he thought down and whoever is on a high level is there because he thought up. Think up and you may attain to heights mortal has never before attained to."

He earnestly urged mothers to supervise the reading of their children, to guard their amusements, to keep them from seeing and hearing vicious things. In closing he said:

"If you will study Christ and think on the levels on which Christ lived, all unconscious of what is taking place you will be made into something of the likeness of your Lord. You are literally going to be what you think."

SUNDAY AFTERNOON MEETING

At the First Methodist church Sunday afternoon, between 500 and 600 women gathered for a service led by Mrs. Frances L. Neth, of the John Brown evangelistic party.

Before stating her theme, Mrs. Neth made what she considered an important announcement, that next Saturday at 6 o'clock, in the First Baptist church, there will be another rally of girls who are in business, girls from the high school, and all girls of the community, to cement the relationships formed and carry on the work begun in these meetings, each girl to bring a lunch for herself and "the other girl."

FALL OF MINISTRY NOT A SURPRISE

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The fall of the German ministry, the imminence of which has been forecast in confidential state department advices for a week past did not surprise official Washington. Notwithstanding that it was expected, however, the actual collapse of the Fehrenbach-Simons administration was viewed here somewhat in the nature of a calamity because of the possibility that in the chaos and confusion that attends a change in government, the settlement of the reparations problem may be complicated and delayed.

The fear most felt in official circles today was that Germany may use the change in ministry as an excuse to ask for more time to answer the allied ultimatum. This would undoubtedly be refused, in the opinion of officials and the result would be another "crisis" with France poised and ready to strike at Germany's richest industrial region.

War Department to Apologize

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The war department will make public apology if the name of any man is erroneously published in the list of draft evaders now being made public, Secretary of War Weeks announced today. The secretary said every effort has been made to check the list, but that it was possible that errors might have crept in.

GARBAGE PROBLEM A BIG QUESTION

Collections Even With New Truck Will Call for Some Shrewd Financiering

The collection of garbage by the city, even with the new truck, is going to be a big problem, as was shown by a communication and recommendations submitted by City Manager Watson to the board of trustees at its son to the board of trustees. He said:

"In regard to the gathering of garbage, waste matter and rubbish:

"As reported to your board on March 24 this service has increased greatly during the past year or more on account of the large number of new residences that have been established during that period and also on account of the large number of new businesses that have been established in the business district.

"In anticipating the cost of this service and the outlay necessary therefor for the ensuing fiscal year, we find it advisable to call our board's attention to the following:

"The purchase of a two-ton Moreland truck authorized by your board last Thursday evening for this service will require that monthly payments therefor be provided for in next year's budget in the sum of $266.25, by reason of there being insufficient funds available at this time to pay the entire purchase price. It will probably be necessary to operate this truck ten hours a day. It is estimated that this will cost, including the salary of driver and other help required in connection therewith, approximately $500 per month. This truck may also gather a portion of the tin cans and waste matter. It will no doubt require a portion of the time of an addition truck for this service. This is estimated to cost $100 per month. It is now costing, to gather papers in the business district, approximately $200 per month, making a total monthly cost for gathering and disposing of garbage, waste matter, waste paper and rubbish of $1066.25 against which there would be credited $100 per month that will be received from sale of garbage, leaving $966.25 as the net cost of this service. As matters now stand there will not be sufficient funds available to carry on this service during the first half of the coming fiscal year by reason of the fact that revenues from taxes will not be available to any extent until about the first of December.

"Service of this kind cannot be dispensed with; the health and walfare of the people require it. As the city becomes more densely populated the possibility of taking care of the city's waste on private premises is greatly decreased. As a means of providing funds to carry on this service in such a way as to fully meet the demand therefor, we would respectfully recommend that a charge be made to those receiving such service. This charge need not be large and should only be for the first six months of the coming fiscal year (from July 1 to January 1). Some practical plan should be devised if possible to eliminate the larger portion of the overhead cost in connection with the bookkeeping and collection of this charge. To that end we suggest the following plan:

"That the city issue tickets entitling the holders thereof to this service, these tickets to be paid for in advance and each ticket representing a separate unit of service. When one of these tickets is attached to a receptacle containing garbage or waste matter to be removed, the collectors would gather the same upon regular days established therefor. These tickets could be supplied by the city in coupon books at $1.75 each, each book containing 25 tickets. These tickets should be large and provisions should be made whereby they may be readily attached to the receptacle containing the garbage or waste matter to be removed. By this means practically all bookkeeping and collection costs would be avoided.

"We would also recommend that a flat charge of 50 cents a month be made in the business district to each business establishment requiring the removal of papers and that 25 cents be charged for the same service for offices in the business section. The revenues from these sources may not cover the entire cost of this service, but will assist greatly in meeting this outlay until funds are available from general tax levy.

"We regret exceedingly having to recommend to your board that a charge be made for this service, but we are confident that the people of Glendale appreciate fully the fact that this rapid growth and increase in population has brought added responsibilities and calls for service upon their municipality that must be met many months in advance of the time when funds from taxation will be available to pay the cost thereof, and that an emergency measure of this kind costing each individual a comparatively small sum, will be met cheerfully and that they will be glad to place the city in position to fully take care of this important matter and to pay the costs thereof promptly each month."

The communication was received with serious attention and interest and referred to the committee of the whole for consideration.

THE SCHOOL BOND ELECTION

Mr. Voter: Remember the School Bond Election, May 24, 1921, 8 a. m. to 6 p. m.; polling places, Central avenue school for those living north of Doran street; Cerritos avenue school for those living south of Windsor road; Intermediate school for those living between these two streets. Amount of proposed issue, $199,000.

This amount is absolutely necessary to put our schools in good working condition and take care of the tremendous growth that Glendale has had in the last two years.

Remember that the cost to you is small. If these bonds are voted it will increase your tax rate 16 cents or less on the $100; that is to say, if you are the owner of a home worth $5000 assessed at 40 per cent of its value, the cost to you of these bonds for the first year would be $3.20.

The benefits far outweigh the cost. Do not fail to go to the polls and vote.

PERMITS HEAVY FIRST WEEK IN MAY

A permit issued to Lela M. Buchanman for the erection of a 6-room residence and a garage at 336 West Lexington, to cost $4200, gives the owner as builder. W. S. Caldwell has the contract for enlarging a room in the house of J. H. Sherman, 341 West Broadway, the price stated being $1000. Jerome Delaney is building a 5-room residence at 1057 Ruberta avenue, Grandview district, to cost $1000, and S. W. Stern is putting up a fruit stand, to cost $100, at 2009 Verdugo road. J. H. Ratigour took out a permit for a 2-room residence at 429 Milford, to cost $250, and Chas. French is adding a room and otherwise remodelling his residence at 515 Fairmont. This brings the total for the first week in May to nearly $100,000.

Two Big Meetings for Women at Tabernacle

to get an education under religious influences, was present and was called upon to lead in prayer. Mrs. Neth then devoted about ten minutes to a description of this school, telling how it grew out of Mr. Brown's longing to help young people in that way because of his own deprivations. Besides the ordinary school work each boy and girl is instructed in some trade so he or she can go out into the world and be self-supporting, while doing definite Christian work. She also stated that 900 students who sought admission last year had to be denied. Dr. Kellogg, formerly of Highland Park, is dean of the school.

Mrs. Neth's theme was taken from the fifth chapter of St. Luke, verses one to eleven, wherein Jesus addresses the multitude from the boat of Simon, the fisherman was described, and how, after He had dismissed the people, He commanded Simon to launch out onto the deep and let down his net for a draught, and so great was the draught that the nets broke, though they had been fishing all night and had taken nothing.

Her argument was that God is calling men and women to get away from the shallow things of life and launch out into the depths of God's word and the depths of God's power, to launch out into the depths of service for men. Said she:

"We think distressfully about the famine sufferers of China, but I say unto you, there is a different kind of starvation. I believe today that we, as a people, are starving to death because we are not feeding on the word of the living God. We read the newspapers, the Ladies' Home Journal and the Literary Digest, and can converse intelligently upon everything in the world except the Bible.

"Launch out into the depths of His power! I believe God wants us to be harnessed to His mighty, everlasting power. As Christians our lives are poor, barren, fruitless, if we are not linked with the power of God, the resurrectional power for you and me. If we do not get God's power in our lives it is because we so fill them with filth and trash that His power cannot flow through us. His spirit would like to dig down into the dark places of your life to unearth the debris that is hindering the power of God from flowing through your life.

"Launch out into the depths of service for men. God has saved us for one purpose—to go out and be a witness for Him. As Christians, we shall never stand before God in judgment for our sins, but as Christians we shall stand before Him to give an account of our life's work."

In closing, Mrs. Neth referred to the work she is going to take up in Los Angeles for girls, saying she has traveled all over the United States and has never found a city anywhere where the need is so great because of the disastrous effect of the movies.

In her final appeal she reverted to her theme of the fisherman, quoting from the 11th verse: "And when they had brought their ships to land, they forsook all and followed Him," adding: "Are you willing to do that?"

Mrs. Fannie Marple Retts sang in solo two evangelistic songs very beautifully, and was thanked by Mrs. Neth for her splendid service in connection with the tabernacle choir. Mrs. Neth also expressed appreciation of the kindness and friendly letters she had received from Glendale women.

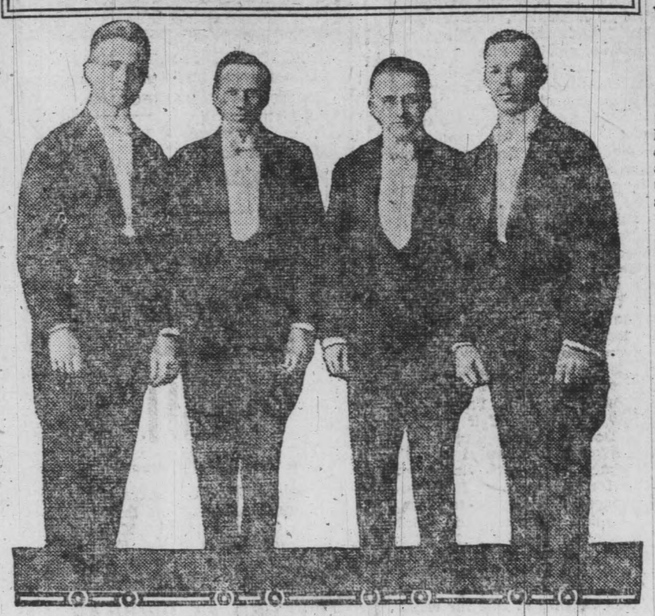
America's Premier Male Quartet Coming

Celebrated "Orpheus Four," Winners of High Honors at San Francisco Exposition, to Sing at Chautauqua



The Orpheus Four, of the Orpheus Club, Los Angeles, is credited with being the best male quartet in the country today. They will long be remembered by San Francisco Exposition patrons for their notable singing there, carrying off the International Gold Medal at that time.

This organization has been touring the country for years. Their repertoire is unquestionably the most extensive of any male quartet. Ranging from the lilting melodies of popular favor to grand opera selections, every number discloses clarity of individual tone, delicate blending, thorough command of tonal contrast and coloring. They will present two concerts on the third day.

KING SENDS PRINCE DANILO INTO EXILE

By NEWTON C. PARKE
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

PARIS, May 9.—Prince Danilo of Montenegro, once a dashing figure who was written into a popular American comic opera, has been practically barred from Italy by King Victor Emmanuel, his brother-in-law, according to word reaching here from Rome.

Though Danilo celebrates his 50th birthday in a few months he still carries all his youthful dash and love for gay times. That's what the king of Italy objects to and he wants the prince to stay out of Italy until he gets old enough to settle down.

Prince Danilo was 25 and extremely good looking when his sister, the Princess Helene, married the present ruler of Italy. He loved a good time and always had it, whether in Paris, at Monte Carlo, or one of the other resorts of the French and Italian Riviera.

Presented Bills to King

When he visited Rome Danilo was received with all the honors due the brother of the queen. But when court events in his honor were all over he slipped away to haunts of his own with friends of his own choice and these little parties annoyed both the king and Queen Helene.

The king's temper soared skyward when he learned of a series of exploits that became the laughing stock of Rome. Prince Danilo, so the story went, would gather several of his friends, spend a "big night" in an Italian place of amusement and when the bill was presented wave it away with the exclamation:

"Don't bother me with that—take it up to the palace to my brother-in-law, the king."

Won Over King's Spy

Prince Danilo moved across the Italian frontier to the French Riviera when the king voiced his displeasure but he kept in touch with things in Italy. His royal brother-in-law wanted to keep in touch with his movements and sent an Italian secret service agent to watch him. But Danilo's ways were so captivating that he won over the king's "spy," made a bosom companion of him and even borrowed some of the expense money furnished by Victor Emmanuel.

That wasn't all. The prince suddenly decided to go into business, making a specialty of choice Italian wines and tidbits that struck the fancy of French gourmands. The Italian customs authorities heard about this and after several months' investigation are said to have discovered that goods on whose export an embargo had been placed, found their way easily into the hands of the prince's company in France.

Some customs inspectors were dismissed and the king wrote a hot letter to Danilo, advising him to keep out of Italy. The prince wrote back, hotly denying all the charges and threatening to do a lot of things to Italy if Montenegro ever gets to be a real country again and he gets on the throne.

BRIAND HAILED AS CALM LEADER

By NEWTON C. PARKE
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

PARIS, May 9.—Aristide Briand, premier of France, probably worries less about holding his job than a major league star who has accumulated a western cattle ranch, three automobiles and a home on Long Island, and who doesn't care when he quits hitting above .300.

In this respect Briand is one of the political marvels not only of France but of the civilized world. His worst enemies know it and furthermore they realize that it is one of the strongest points in his armor.

"What good does it do to get red in the face roasting a man who just looks you quietly in the eye while you're attacking him?" inquired a member of the French chamber of deputies the other day. "One of these days, if the Germans fail to pay or the government falls down on some internal matter we'll get Briand and vote him out of power. Then probably, he'll just smile, pick up his notes and go off to some restaurant for a good dinner."

That is about what happened after one of the stormiest incidents in Briand's career, which includes six terms as prime minister of France, and that is why the political wiseacres figure it will happen again. Under a severe questioning by the socialists because of the radical measures he had taken to end a general railway strike by a military mobilization of the strikers, he replied:

"To maintain order I would even resort to illegal measures."

"The Unperturbable"

Amid the general uproar from the socialist benches that followed this announcement, one radical socialist tried to drag Briand from the tribune and another attempted to spit in his face. He never blinked an eye, and when the tumultuous seance was ended, he evaded the deputies who wished to congratulate him and went off to eat a sandwich in quiet.

Like President Millerand, whom he succeeded in the premiership, Briand has a reputation as a hard worker. But, whereas Millerand reached the foreign office early in the morning and kept going until late at night, with only a few minutes off for luncheon, Briand is a less intensive worker. He finds time to step in the Quai d'Orsay corridors for a chat with an associate or a group of newspapermen and to spend plenty of time over a full-sized meal.

The Premier's Promenade

His speeches are generally extemporaneous. He mounts the tribune of the chamber of deputies with a narrow strip of paper, supposed to carry notes. But no one has ever seen him consult them. As he gains force in his discourse he rolls the paper in one hand and when he quits the tribune he jams the ball into a side pocket.

In his office Briand receives great numbers of visitors every day, pacing up and down the room, listening to and answering their arguments and only stopping now and then to light a fresh cigaret or answer the telephone. Frequently when callers are announced he opens the door for them himself, guides them to chairs and then resumes his promenade.

Briand's favorite sport is yachting. When the chamber is on vacation he hikes for the sea or for his country home.

TWO ARE HELD AS RESULT OF HOLDUP

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9.—Working on the theory that the hold-up in which Anderson Friedlof, wealthy lumberman, was probably fatally wounded was "framed" by his companions on an automobile ride to the beach, police held Irene Stephenson and Percy Millis and are seeking Herbert Williams, as well as the three masked men who staged the hold-up and wounded Friedlof.

The hold-up occurred at a lonely spot near the beach close to the "old mill." Friedlof had been in the company of the Stephenson woman, Millis and Williams when an automobile ride was suggested.

Near the "old mill" motor trouble developed and the machine stopped. The hold-up was then staged, the three hold-up men getting $200 from Friedlof and smaller sums from the others in the machine. Friedlof gave battle and was shot under the arm. He is at Central Emergency hospital and is expected to die.

PARLIAMENTARY LAW CLASSES

Another series of five lessons on parliamentary law will be started under the auspices of the Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations of Glendale, May 10. The class will meet in the juvenile room of the public library on Harvard street from 10 to 12 and will be led by Mrs. P. S. McNutt. It is hoped that as many of the incoming officers of the Parent-Teacher Associations as possible will avail themselves of this opportunity for training for the duties before them.

LOCAL LEGION HAS NUMBER OF PLANS

Various Social Affairs Being Planned for Post and Auxiliary

Members of the American Legion met at post headquarters on East Broadway Friday night for the discussion of various and sundry matters affecting the organization. Some of these discussions concerned plans that are simmering and not far enough advanced to be announced.

One of the things definitely agreed upon, however, was an entertainment to be given the latter part of May, the proceeds to go to the boys at Thornycroft. Just what this entertainment will be has not been thought out, except that it will be given by fine artists.

Another matter of interest to the post and auxiliary is the basket social to take place at headquarters on May 20. After an evening of dancing the baskets containing the refreshments will be raffled off and the proceeds divided between the post and auxiliary.

'WAY DOWN EAST' AT GLENDALE THEATER

D. W. Griffith presented here for the first time yesterday, his great screen enlargement of "Way Down East" for an engagement of two days. There will be two more performances today, a matinee at 2:15 and in the evening at 8:15.

"Way Down East" is not a mere expanding of the stage play of the same name. Rather, the "Way Down East" that Griffith has provided is an idylic tale of plain and honest people an there is a distinct moral impressed—that of a single standard for conduct of men and women. The poor disconsolate girl who is turned out into a terrific storm is a pathetic figure, indeed, and when she is seen lying helpless on an ice floe, drifting toward a menacing fall, there is a thrill that gets each onlooker in its grip. In the nick of time she is saved from death and then pent-up feeling comes forth in overwhelming applause. Lillian Gish, in the leading role, has achieved a success that at once places her in the foremost rank of American actresses.

HUNCHBERGERS' HOUSEWARMING

The guest list included: Irma Patterson, Dolly and Addie Shafer, Betty Bullard, Lyndall Haven, Frank Butterfield, Paul Camp, Edwin Stivers, Ed Moniot, Verne Nyman and Carl Bowman, of Los Angeles.

GLENDALIANS AT OREGON PICNIC

The Oregon picnic, which is to be held at Sycamore Grove next Saturday, will be attended by a good many residents of Glendale who formerly lived in that state, including Mr. and Mrs. Thayer of South Kenwood street, Mr. and Mrs. Knapp and family of West Chestnut street, Mr. Lucas, real estate operator, and family.

HOME BREW FUMES OUTVIE MOTH BALLS

(By International News Service)

BOSTON, May 9.—Moth balls, strewn about the stairs leading to her apartment, to disguise the fumes from home brew lacked sufficient strength to dispel the belief of "Dry" Agent McNulty that liquor was being made in the home of Rebecca Fox, on Chestnut street, Chelsea, McNulty testified.

An examination of the defendant's premises, according to McNulty, revealed a 20-gallon still in operation, besides 300 gallons of mash and 10 gallons of moonshine whisky which she was charged with manufacturing.

DOGS

Dogs are such wonderful creatures—so quick to battle, so quick to forgive, so innocent of pose, so loyal in adversity—that one who pretends to find in them the qualities common to men seem guilty of a colossal vanity. One may say of a fellow mortal that he is a man of iron, or that he has a heart of gold, or that he is a diamond in the rough, for these inanimate things possess a value from which one may borrow for purposes of comparison without doing hurt to their reputations. Men and metal are not competitors. But if one asserts that men and dogs have many qualities in common he adds nothing to the glory of men, who are by all accounts superior, and yet seems to call into question the good name of the dogs. If one says to the dog, "You have many of man's virtues," the dog may answer in self-defense, "Make no mention of this matter, I pray you, lest the world suspect that I have his vices as well."

As I go to work each morning I pass the home of a woolly little dog that views with alarm. He is obsessed with the idea that something dreadful is impending. Each trivial incident of the day fills him with a frenzy of terror. Each approaching pedestrian is an ogre, each casual visitor a messenger of destruction. His affrighted imagination sees sudden death in every passing shadow, and he disturbs a neighborhood with his shrill hysteria. I do not scold him, for I assume that he has not taken counsel with history, and that the picket fence about the yard is his horizon.

Frequently I catch glimpses of a brindle terrier that lives in town and devotes his energy to going somewhere. Early or late, in street or alley, he pushes forward at a lively trot, his head in the air, and to the casual observer he appears to be occupied with matters of great importance; but I have observed that he watches me out of the corner of his eye, and am of the opinion that he is a person of little consequence, wholly devoted to the business of seeming important.

My neighbor has a dog that feels superior. At home he will frolic gravely with the children or swing his tail in ponderous fashion when an acquaintance calls, but on the street he resents familiarity. He goes solemnly about his own business, and if he feels any curiosity concerning the trivial affairs of a commonplace world he is careful to conceal it for the sake of his dignity and his reputation. I felt rather humble in his presence for a time, but one day I saw him in his own back yard chasing a cat with all the eager abandon of a street feist, and now I address him with mock gravity and feed my vanity by laughing up my sleeve.

My own dog is a cross between a cheerful idiot and a philosopher. The collar about his neck causes him no inconvenience, and though a yard fence limits the scope of his adventures he manifests no spirit of rebellion. Yet when expediency prompts me to chain him to his kennel he becomes frantic with a desire for liberty and leaps against his collar until exhaustion brings him to his knees. The saving philosophy of impotence enables him to bear confinement with equanimity, if confinement will but grant him the sorry privilege of pretending to be free; but when a clanking chain advertises his condition of servitude he must struggle to be free or lose his self-respect.

He is not so careful of his self-respect in other particulars, however. He has a theory that he is a little brother to the world, and is forever approaching strangers with his whole after-deck vibrating in unison with his tail, and his eyes shining with an eagerness to make friends and pass the time of day. Some suspect him of ulterior motives and aim a kick at his ribs; and others, schooled in the theory that nothing is worth while that may be obtained without great effort, spurn his advances and urge him to be on his way. Thereafter he pouts for a season and seems to contemplate becoming a confirmed cynic, but his nature has deeper root than his wounded pride and within an hour he will be fishing for new affronts. I love him for his forgiving spirit and unfailing optimism, but I have little respect for his intelligence. If he had the wit to affect indifference every passer-by would stop to pat his tawny head and speak a word in his praise; but since he is hali-fellow-well-met with everybody, acquaintances realize that they cannot hope to win distinction by evidences of his favor, and scorn a friendship so easily won and so universally and gratuitously bestowed.

At times I am tempted to sell him into a far country, and then I remember that mortals habitually boast of their acquaintance with celebrities and neglect to mention their less important friends, so that they appear to value most the friends who value them least, and I am constrained to forgive my dog his folly and think no less of him because the values fixed by mortals are beyond his comprehension. Age will teach him discretion and sore ribs will teach him reticence. Meanwhile his waving tail and shimmying after-quarters become him well, and win him friends among simple folk who do not employ friendships as feathers for their nests.—Exchange.

HOOVER WANTS TO HELP BUSINESS

Secretary Hoover has appointed a committee to cooperate with him for the more orderly development of domestic and foreign commerce—an oil man, a manufacturer, a shipbuilder, a publisher and an electric railway man.

Oscar Straus sought to have the business men of the country take an interest in the department of commerce, working with him to have the department serve commerce more effectively. He succeeded in laying the foundation of the chamber of commerce of the United States, a fair beginning, for the chamber is the liason office keeping American industry and official Washington in touch. It is through the chamber, which has grown steadily in its activities, that Mr. Hoover will do well to work.

ALL FORMS OF PARALYSIS TREATED

Milton H. Berry's anatomical method, as advertised in this issue of the Glendale Daily Press, has proven a wonderful success with hundreds of sufferers. Mr. Berry has performed almost miraculous cures of paralysis of all kinds. His methods are used in a majority of the orthopedic hospitals. Mr. Berry is nationally known and his work endorsed by America's leading physicians and surgeons.

"FORBIDDEN FRUIT" AT PALACE GRAND

The Palace Grand theater is featuring for today and tomorrow a Paramount picture, "Forbidden Fruit," a Cecil B. De Mille production. This photoplay was written by Jeanie McPherson and is described as "the most lavishly beautiful drama of married life ever produced."

Another attraction on this bill is E. W. Hammon's "Take Your Time," a Vanity comedy featuring Irene Dalton with Earl Rodney.

REV. J. S. O'NEILL MAKES PROTEST

"Editor Glendale Press: May I take the liberty of requesting that this communication be published in your paper as a formal protest against the attitude of the Glendale Ministerial Association in seeking to usurp the administrative powers of our Glendale Union High School?

"It is not my purpose to enter upon a discussion of the morals of dancing, which subject was seized upon by the Ministerial Association in your issue of Saturday night for the purpose of asserting its supposed right to dictate the policy of what this ministerial group was pleased to term "our union high school."

"Since when has the union high school become an official part of the Ministerial Association? By what right under our American institutions, which distinctly provide that "church and state shall be separate" does this group of ministers, as an official body, undertake to govern the school affairs under the smug assumption that they are acting for all the people and for "our own union high school"?

"Glendale is a large and growing city. All creeds are represented here. The Ministerial Association represents only a portion of the people, who have a vital interest in "our union high school." There are many Catholics here. There are Jews and there are Socialists here. There are also non-churchgoers. But they all have an "equal right under the law" in affairs of state, and they form a large group who find good ground for protest when such organizations as the Ministerial Association officially interjects its influence into a school which knows no barriers of creed and which should be free from all denominational interest.

"There is a growing tendency in certain classes of religion to link our churches and schools in spite of the fact that the fundamental laws of the state and nation would keep them separate, and in few places has this un-American trend been more manifest than here in Glendale.

"The Ministerial Association doubtless has a vital work to do, but it could best serve its purpose by confining itself to the religious field and leaving the administration of "our union high school" to those who represent all the people.

"I have no quarrel with those who are opposed to dancing, the practice of which at the union high school inspired the Ministerial Association to record itself as the official sponsor of the school morals of Glendale. But I do protest against any religious body interjecting itself into the business of dictating how our schools shall be conducted.

"It is not a part of good religion to disobey the laws of state and nation, and he who would strive to make religion dominate our public schools is un-American.

"JAMES STEPHEN O'NEILL.
"Parish Priest of Glendale for Fourteen Years."

FRANK BOOTH TELLS NEEDS OF GLENDALE

May 8, 1921.

Editor Glendale Press: What Glendale wants to improve it and make it a better city to live in, in my opinion, and which I have no doubt hundreds of other readers of your paper will agree with me, are:

First—Elimination of the 10 cent toll call on phone between Glendale and Los Angeles.

Second—Cheaper street car fare between Glendale and Los Angeles.

Third—Seats or benches on principal thoroughfares of our city.

Fourth—Salt Lake railroad made into an electric line for Yellow Car line at reduced car fares to and from Los Angeles with transfer privileges.

Five—Open up a road from West Broadway to Griffith park, and run a city jitney service, reasonable rates, from city hall, on tickets purchased there for the round trip, 5 cents for children and 10 cents for adults, this would settle the local park question and save the city piles of money in providing parks.

Six—Save the expense of sewerage and annexation to Los Angeles by having all cesspools placed in parkways of city which can be emptied between the hours of 12 at midnight and 5 a. m., residue deposited on some vacant city land on the outskirts, deposits sold for fertilizing.

Seven—Sublet collection of garbage to some hog raisers to cover cost of collection, and let city take care of collecting empty cans by street department. Paper collected pack up and sell to some paper mills for pulp.

Eight—Make the street cars amenable to the same speed laws as automobiles.

Nine—To help reduce school taxation, advertise cafeterias run in the schools for rent to highest bidder and let the renters compete with outsiders who help pay taxes on schools, a store is worth so much a month rent. So is room and equipment in a school worth so much.

Ten—At election time let all paid officers come before the people for election, such as trustees, city clerk, city treasurer, city manager, city attorney, city engineer, city recorder, police and firemen by promotion from ranks.

Eleven—Open up one or two rooms of our various schools for the boys and girls, for reading rooms, games and other forms of recreation, evenings. This would take them off the streets and provide for their needs, these schools are provided by the people, for the people and help solve the civic center idea.

George Loane Tucker, producer of "The Miracle Man" and "Ladies Must Live," is said to be planning a spectacular picture with the locale in the Hawaiian Islands.

RAY BANKER SHAW HOME FROM JAPAN TALKS OF WAR

Predicted by Seeress in Whose Forecasts People of That Country Have Faith

DATE SET FOR MARCH 1

Japan Confident in Her Own Ability and Inferiority of Enemy Leading Trait

Ray Banker Shaw, who has just returned to this country after completing a three-year contract in the Kobe Commercial College at Kobe, Japan, gave some interesting talks before classes of Glendale high, Friday. He has been asked to return to the flowery kingdom and renew his contract, but conditions are so critical there on account of the bitter sentiment against America and in favor of war, that he deems it wise to stay away. He said he hoped war would not come, but there is a strong sentiment for it in Japan and it is the general theme of conversation on the streets. He considers this due in a great measure to the predictions of a woman who is regarded by the Japanese as a seeress because she predicted the outbreak of the Russo-Japanese war and its outcome. She has forecasted a war between the United States and Japan and announced March 1 as the date upon which war would be declared. The fact that it has not come does not seem to shake the faith of her believing followers who appear to regard the delay as simply a postponement.

The speaker dwelt on the pride and self confidence of the Japanese and quoted the words of a Japanese editor to the effect that Japan need not fear America on account of its numbers because the Americans had once defeated the British empire, and Japan has more war spirit than America ever had. He characterized them as a childish people, excepting a few leaders, who are developed enough to view their relation to the rest of the world in something like its true light. As an example of the childish shallowness of their reasoning he mentioned the fact that if a Japanese child can propound to his teacher any question that the teacher cannot answer and thus prove that the teacher does not know everything, it is ground for dismissal from the teaching staff. The only protection the teacher has is to speak so rapidly the child cannot follow.

The reverence of the Japanese for their emperor approaches idolatry, he says. No member of the royal family can be mentioned in the same sentence with any other dignitary no matter how high their rank. A Japanese will endure without resentment criticisms of his country and his religion, but when you mention any one of the royal family, it is a deadly, unforgivable insult.

Mr. Shaw referred to the wonderful gift for imitation which the Japanese possess, but declared they are not original. He also referred to Japan's ability to support an army, indorsing statements made by Homer T. Lee that the Japanese could carry on a practically self-sustaining war because all the materials they would need could be supplied from their own products.

As stated, Mr. Shaw does not desire to return to Japan and one reason is because he does not consider it the right environment for his children.

WEDDING BELLS

Kent-Martin

George Hobart Kent and Miss Geneva Martin were united in marriage at the parsonage of the Central avenue Methodist church on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, by the pastor, Rev. V. Hunter Brink.

The bride is a former Glendale resident, a graduate of the grammar and high schools of this city. She was attended by Miss Emma Sebastian. Mr. Kent is an officer of the marines, and is stationed at San Pedro, where he and Mrs. Kent will make their home.

RECENT PURCHASE OF GUARANTY OIL CO.

The Guaranty Oil company has purchased 40 acres more at Huntington Beach. Not satisfied, it is stated, with one choice lease, inside the "million-dollar circle," not satisfied with erecting one derrick on this lease, the company has stepped out and is adding more acres on the fabulously rich Balsa Chica Mesa. For particulars we refer our readers to the advertisement on another page.

TRUSTEES OF G. U. H. S. MEET TO ORGANIZE

About 45 girls of Intermediate school, accompanied by the principal, Miss Noble, and Misses Jackson and Taylor, went to Los Angeles Friday to be luncheon guests of the domestic science department of the Los Angeles Express and who gave them an excellent demonstration. After the luncheon and talk, the girls were taken through the Express plant to see how a big newspaper plant is conducted.

J. J. DEAKIN MEETS FATHER-IN-LAW

S. S. Patrick, of Decatur, Ill., is here to visit his daughter, Mrs. J. J. Deakin, 1023 Virginia place, and thereby hangs an amusing tale. A fine appearing stranger entered the A. J. Lucas real estate office a day or two ago and asked for J. J. Deakin. Jack called him in and Deakin at once jumped to the conclusion that here was a fine real estate prospect. So he greeted the stranger very cordially and asked if he could show him something in this most beautiful and fastest-growing city in the world—a lot, some acreage or a fine home. No better investment in the world than Glendale real estate, and so on. The stranger heard him very patiently and then replied:.. "I'm not looking for a lot, any acreage or even a home just now, though Glendale certainly appeals to me most strongly, even though I've seen but little of it. I'm looking for my daughter and if you are J. J. Deakin you've 'got her.'" Very much astounded at this direct charge, and with visions of a suit for abduction on trumped-up charges floating before him, Mr. Deakin faltered out, "and what may your name be?" "My name is S. S. Patrick of Decatur, Ill., and you took my daughter from me several years ago when she was visiting in this far west. I'm your father-in-law, whom you have never seen." Then they grasped hands and shook very heartily. Strange as it may seem they had never met before and Mrs. Deakin, who had not seen her father for seven years was overjoyed when he and her husband entered the home. Mr. Deakin says that just for revenge on his father-in-law for the scare he threw into him he is going to sell him a home after all. Anyhow, Mr. Patrick likes Glendale more and more every minute he stays here and he may yet decide to invest.

PLANE PATROL FOR THE ARCTIC

(By International News Service)

EDMONTON, Alta., May 9.—Sky trails of the north will soon flash with scarlet as the Royal Canadian Mounted Police fly in pursuit of law-breakers. The government has announced a plan to equip the famous corps with airplanes.

All winter the police have been patrolling the Peace and Athabasca rivers to prevent foolhardy persons from striking in for the Fort Norman oil fields on the Mackenzie. They will continue this work even in the summer, as the journey is difficult and dangerous in any kind of weather. They will permit no one to start who is not physically fit and amply equipped with provisions and clothes. No firearms will be allowed. The oil camp will not be of the traditional Wild West type, and the "bad man" will not figure in its history. Gamblers and women also will be barred.

But for all this vigilance the country will swarm with adventures. Airplanes will add to the celerity and effectiveness of police work, and outlaws will be able to find few wilderness retreats safe from the eyes of these policemen of the sky.

Quarters for the police have been established throughout the north country. With these posts as flying bases, the police will be able to keep the vast region between Peace river and the Arctic ocean under constant surveillance with daily airplane patrols.

BLOW ON HEAD FOR STRIKEBREAKER

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 9.—United States shipping board officials here were fired upon early today when an attempt was being made to send seamen from here to Charleston to man ships abandoned by striking sea workers. Fred Dickson, jr., received a blow on the head from a brick thrown, it is said, by a striker.

Strikers' friends discovered the strikebreakers being loaded into a tug for transport. A party of about 50 surrounded an automobile in which were policemen and the shipping board officers. Firing opened and stones were thrown. The automobile dashed away and little damage was done.

KORFANTY PROCLAIMS HIMSELF GOVERNOR

BERLIN, May 9.—The Polist commissioner in upper Silesia, Adelbert Korfanty, who was recalled by Warsaw but refused to obey, proclaimed himself military and civil governor of upper Silesia.

Italian troops have suffered heavy losses in battles with the Polish insurgents in upper Silesia.

The Silesian Poles are reported to have sent an ultimatum to the allies demanding: (1) Inter-allied neutrality in upper Silesia; (2) That the martial law decree be raised by the allies; (3) Dismissal of the plebiscite police chiefs; (4) Suppression of all German language newspapers. The ultimatum is said to threaten a campaign of sabotage in upper Silesia if there is any further interference by allied troops.

FIGHTING NOTES

(By International News Service)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 9.—Joe Lynch is still the bantam champion of the world today because his bout with Pal Moore here last night was a 12-round, no-decision affair, but had a verdict been rendered, in the opinion of critics at the ringside, it would have gone to Moore.

Moore outpointed Lynch in every round except the twelfth. In the final frame he seemed to tire and Lynch started a vigorous offensive, but Moore weathered the storm and finished a winner.

NEW YORK, May 9.—A grappling error by Ed (Strangler) Lewis has today cost him the heavyweight wrestling championship.

The wrestling crown is reposing on the bald brow of Stanislaus Zybszko, who pinned Lewis to the mat in the surprisingly fast time of 23 minutes, 17 seconds.

The men had been wrestling on fairly even terms when Lewis suddenly made a lunge at his opponent in an attempt to clamp on the headlock. The hold slipped over "Zyb's" bald head and Lewis lost his balance, falling flat on his back. In a trice the Pole was upon him and in five seconds was declared the victor by Referee Bothner.

"GLEN AND DALE"

Although plans are going ahead in fine shape for the great state convention, many Glendale people who are not in touch with the workings of the convention committee are getting anxious and asking when their part in the work will commence. Don't get too anxious folks, for although we are glad you want to get busy in this great task, there is much detail work to be planned, and your share will be announced just as soon as something definite is ready.

You are asking about entertainment, well, we'll see you later about that. In this city where people live here today, and there tomorrow, the work of canvassing can't be begun until a week or ten days before the delegates are expected to arrive. But we'll call on you, everyone of you, and we want you to double up and see just how many Endeavorers you can take for the five days of the convention, or for part of the time, because, of course, you will want to take some one for some of the time. If you think you can take two girls now, see if you can't take four, you will like the enthusiasm and inspiration of these young people and they in turn will enjoy your hospitality.

So watch and wait—one of these days along about the middle of June a pretty young lady will stop at your door and ask how many delegates you can take. Then you want to put on your sweetest smile and tell her. In the mean time clean the house, fill your larder, and get ready.

FULLER SKIRTS, LONGER STEPS

(By International News Service)

LONDON, May 9.—"Women have developed larger waist-lines and flatter chests since last year—the result of so much outdoor sport. Compare the wax mannequin, modelled on the average type of feminine figure, with its predecessors and you will at once see how the silhouette has changed."

This was the assertion of a prominent maker of wax mannequins to our representative recently, and an examination of a dozen mannequins dressed in London's smartest gowns proved its truth. The beautiful silent fashion pioneers all wore gowns that flared slightly across the hips and showed a distinctly wider waist-line than that of last season.

It is not long since the wax figures that create such interest as they sit in the shelter of Regent street and Oxford street windows, dressed in gowns made specially for women of leisure to be worn at different times of the day, were invested with real hair and eyelashes. Blondes are the favorite mannequin types, and coiffures are dressed daily by clever hairdressers to harmonize with the gowns to be worn.

The only silent women in shops were recently made to bend or sit in any attitude. Next season, it is hinted, we may see them endowed with mechanical limbs that may lead them to emulate the human mannequin glide. This glide is the chief source of superiority that human mannequins at present enjoy over the dummy figures, and they are concentrating on it.

If one can judge from the new specimen walking steps practised by mannequins women, assisted by the fulness of the new skirts, will take longer but slower steps this season—a movement that will inculcate gracefulness.

When a Child Prays

There had been a difference of opinion in the preacher's family, and youthful Elizabeth thought that she had received the worst of it. So at prayer-time she was resentful and unhappy, but she went through her usual petitions. "O Lord," she finally prayed, "make all the bad people good. And, God, if you can, please make all the good people nice."

Shakespeare Would Be a Curiosity

Fritz Leiber, the Shakespearean actor, was submitted to a long and trying interview not so long ago by a woman reporter, who finally wound up with this question: "Don't you think, Mr. Leiber, that if the immortal William were alive today he would be looked upon almost in the nature of a curiosity?"

"Indeed he would," answered the actor. "Just think of it! He'd be more than 300 years old."

PRINCE BUELOW TO BE CHANCELOR

By FRANK E. MASON
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, May 9.—President Ebert has offered the chancellorship of Germany to Prince Buelow, former chancellor of Germany under the old Hohenzollern regime, according to an unconfirmed report in circulation this afternoon.

The Neue Berliner stated that President Ebert had been in telegraphic communication with Prince Buelow and that he was negotiating with the prince in an effort to get him to accept the chancellorship in succession to Dr. Fehrenbach.

The report was received with much skepticism.

THAT CONTROVERSY OVER REPARATIONS

President Harding has declined an appeal from the German government that he agree to act as mediator between Germany and the allies on the question of reparaions.

The President, while declining to mediate, urges Germany to resume negotiations immediately with the allies by formulating proposals which would present a proper basis for discussion and he offers to consider bringing such proposals to the allies in a manner acceptable to them.

Following this stand by President Harding, Germany's new proposals on the reparations question have been received by the President, who has taken steps informally to ascertain what the allied governments think of them, while reserving judgment as to whether he will transmit them to the allies as presenting "a proper basis for discussion."

The proposals apparently represent substantial concessions on Germany's part, but the United States government is refraining from either sponsoring them or otherwise seeking to influence the allied governments. The whole question now depends on what the allies in general, and France in particular, decide to do in the face of the new German move.

President Harding and his cabinet discussed the Germans proposals as a matter of interest, but with no thought of formulating any plan other than having the secretary of state informally consult the diplomatic representatives of the allied powers.

The German people, according to a Berlin cable, support the new proposals which the German government submits to the allied powers through the medium of the United States. Germany, declaring that the peace and welfare of he world are dependent upon a speedy and just solution of the reparations question, assures the President that it will do everything in its power to enable the American government to direct the attention of the allied governments to the matter.

Germany proposes to pay the allies an indemnity extending over a number of years which will amount to 200,000,000,000 gold marks, equivalent to about 50,000,000,000 gold marks; she will cooperate to her utmost in the reconstruction of devastated regions; she will place immediately at the disposal of the reparations commission 1,000,000,000 gold marks; she is willing to assume the allied obligations to the United States, and she will issue an international loan, the proceeds of which will go to the allies. But, in return, she makes the condition that the present system of penalties shall be discontinued immediately, that she be given freedom of trade and that she be freed from "all unproductive outlays" now imposed on her.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 9.—John S. Williams, Newton and Jasper county farmer, convicted in Newton county on a charge of murder in connection with the death of 11 negro farm hands on his plantation and sentenced to life imprisonment, today was denied a new trial when his motion was heard in Decatur, DeKalb county, by Judge Hutcheson.

Dedicatory Exercises at Research Hospital

Prominent Men Make Addresses That Teemed with Interest to the Large Audience—Splendidly Equipped Hospital Another Asset to Glendale

With the glorious flag of our country floating high above their heads, hundreds of Glendale residents and many from nearby cities also, stood in the warm May sunshine yesterday afternoon to participate in the dedicatory exercises of the splendid new Research Hospital at Lexington drive and Adams street.

The patriotic note was emphasized by the playing of "The Star-Spangled Banner," by the Glendale orchestra, as the opening number of the program.

W. E. Evans, chairman of the day, said that the finest hospital in the world is said to be in Paris. It covers five acres and is probably the oldest living hospital in existence, dating back to the seventh century. Mr. Evans said he welcomed the guests present at this dedication to the newest hospital in the world, and the modern, up-to-date one.

The invocation was made by Dr. C. M. Crist, pastor of the First Methodist church. Mrs. Fannie Marple Retts' solo, "The Good Shepherd" (Van de Water), was beautiful and inspiring.

Dr. W. E. Edmonds welcomed the guests in the name of the stockholders. Dr. Edmonds mentioned the celebration next Thursday of "hospital day" in celebration of the birth of Florence Nightingale. He said that more and more was the spirit of the Good Samaritan increasing in the world; the late war has opened our eyes and touched our hearts and strengthened our sense of kinship. The speaker mentioned the significance and importance to the world of certain great days: The day when a new home is set up; when the cornerstone of a new church is laid; when a new school is established. It is also a great day when such an institution as this hospital is dedicated to the needs of suffering humanity.

Dr. Edmonds paid an eloquent tribute to physicians and nurses who, through the days and nights give up their rest and recreation to serve suffering men, in the name of the Good Samaritan. He spoke of the democracy of the institution, calling it "the people's hospital."

"My Faith Looks Up to Thee," a duet by Mrs. Fannie Marple Retts and Spencer Robinson, was a much appreciated musical number.

T. W. Watson, city manager, spoke for the city of Glendale. Aside from human development, he said, no development is more interesting than the development of a city. This hospital is one of the institutions required by the city to serve its people. The good judgment evidenced by its founders in selecting its excellent location argues their equally good judgment in everything pertaining to its equipment and management.

Dr. E. E. Ford, welcoming the guests for the religious bodies of the city, emphasized the thought that at heart the people are all one; sympathy, he said, is one of the biggest words in any language, a nation is known by its manner of treatment of its weak members. The heathens allow their sick to crawl away into the brush and die; they expose the weaklings among their babies to perish. "Hospital," he explained, "has the same derivation as 'hospitality,' both coming from the same root, 'hospes,' meaning guest."

Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, president of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, said it was significant that this dedication should take place on Mother's Day. The first nurse was a mother and her lap the first hospital. While her ministrations might not be as scientific as they should be, they were nevertheless ministrations of love, without which the most efficient care of the sick is valueless.

Dr. J. L. Avey, speaking in place of Dr. Lobingier, who was unable to be present, explained some of the great things done by the Roentgen ray, or X-ray, and the wonderful progress made in discoveries as to its beneficial application, although this science, he said, is still in its infancy.

Dr. Clifford A. Cole, pastor of the First Christian church, gave the dedicatory address. He said this new asset to Glendale, bringing it nearer splendidly equipped hospital is another asset to Glendale, bringing it nearer the ideal city. He said it was fitting that he should speak in behalf of the religious bodies of the city, since the hospital is not entirely a business project. Looking at the matter from another standpoint, it is a Christian institution; no heathen city has hospitals. The church, Dr. Cole said, stands for faith; the schools for hope, the hospitals for love.

In a most effective peroration he dedicated the hospital to the physical healing of men and their complete restoration to the state of a sound mind in a sound body, in the name of the city, in the name of humanity, in the name of the Great Physician.

The chairman introduced the directors—Spencer Robinson, Dr. McNaughton, A. L. Baird, Herman Nelson and Roy L. Kent, and then the guests were invited to inspect the beautiful building.

Mr. Berry's corrective methods of physical education to victims of infantile paralysis is now used successfully in all hospitals for crippled children. Bodies which otherwise would be malformed for life are now becoming straight by his skill.
